

Friends of Meaford Library Summer Concerts 2026

Concert #9 by Will & Lynda Henry on Sunday, 23 August 2026

Will and Lynda Henry have played traditional music for many years at community social dances, concerts, festivals, sessions and other gatherings in barns, bars, museums, community halls, theatres and churches.

With fiddle and concertina, along with clawhammer banjo and mandolin, the Woodford area residents play mostly Irish dance tunes as well as Will's original melodies composed in that traditional style.

Will helped form the Glenelg Full Moon Country Dance Band in the early 1990s and now plays regularly with the popular regional five-piece acoustic contra dance band Scatter the Cats.

Will has been highlighted in Rrampt, a culture website and magazine for Grey Bruce Simcoe. The publisher featured a comprehensive article on Juggling the Notes, a book of photographs and stories about traditional music, including 80 of Will's original compositions.

Will and Lynda are also part of WILD Trad, a quartet which specializes in straight-up, unaccompanied traditional music and includes flute player Dan McGee and piper Ian Harper. They first appeared at the Friends' concert series in 2023.
